Big Crowd At Alston Sports

The Alston sports on Wednesday afternoon drew a large crowd, the whole countryside being represented in the attendance, and an enjoyable afternoon and evening was provided by the hosts of the occasion. The baseball tournament was won by Champion, who defeated Vulcan and Alston in turn. Details of the bucking contests and other sports are not available as we go to press, but it is hoped to secure these for next week's issue.

Mrs. J. McLeod, of Brant, was the guest of Mrs. G. M. Campbell this week.

Binders Will Be Busy Shortly In Most Valuable Crop Ever Harvested in This District

While in isolated instances wheat cutting has already commenced, it is anticipated that operations will not be general until well into next week. The crop, which so far is undamaged since the high spring winds caused some soil drifting, is undoubtedly one of the best ever harvested here. While it may not reach the heights in yields per acre achieved in some other years, the volume promises to be the greatest on record and at anything near prevailing prices should easily reach the distinction claimed for it. Prominent grain men claim that 1,000,000 bushels would be a very conservative estimate of the wheat that will be marketed in Champion this year. Preparations for harvesting the crop are in evidence everywhere. New binders are going out in greater numbers than in any year since 1920. One of the most gratifying features of the situation is the fact that almost every individual farmer will participate in the big crop.

A "misrepresentation as to an essential part of her person," is how a lawyer described a bride's wearing false teeth in an announcement of marriage taken before the superior court at Montreal. His client, according to the declaration, is psychopathic and his particular predilections lean towards good teeth. He says that he thought his bride had her own teeth when he married her, and that he could not live with a woman whose mouth is filled with monstrosities from a dental parlor.

The coal strike in Great Britain and the recent general strike cost the industries of the nation about £150,000,000, according to Arthur Samuel, parliamentary secretary for the overseas trade department. Mr. Samuel, replying to a question in the house of commons, said that his estimate included a loss of £10,000,000, to the mining industry.

Announcement has been made that C. M. Hall, manager of the Alberta Pacific Grain Co. has been appointed general manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool Elevators. Some 18 elevators have now been purchased by the pool and contracts have been made for the erection of elevators at six other points.

The Carmangay fair will be held on Tuesday, August 10th. Good prizes are offered in the different stock classes, domestic produce, etc. Jas. McNaughton is secretary and prize lists may be secured by applying to him.

Thompson-Bourner
A pretty wedding was solemnized July 17 at the Anglican church, Danville, Que., when Hilda Bourner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bourner became the bride of Louis F. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thompson, of Calgary, Alta. The Rev. A. W. Jones performed the ceremony.

Mrs. R. Gardiner and family left for Frank this week, where they will spend the month of August with relatives.

Messrs Foulds and Fair, superintendents of the Marshall-Wells Hardware Co., of Calgary and Regina respectively, were visitors to Champion on Monday.

Louis Thompson and bride, nee Miss Hilda Bourner, of Danville, Quebec, arrived in town on Sunday evening, having motored from Calgary. Naturally, everyone was highly pleased as grave suggestions, including one to the effect that Louis had been lost in the forest fire near Banff, had been abroad. In the meantime the foxy one had been on his way to Quebec with matrimonial intentions. The community at large will welcome the young couple and wish them happiness and prosperity in their matrimonial voyage.

Mrs. Frank Starr, who accompanied a party of Mr. and Mrs. F. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. I. Fisher, and the families of Frank, R. I. and Fred Starr to Glacier Park, was taken ill and was unable to return home. She was met at Macleod on Sunday by Mr. Starr, R. I. having motored her to that point.

Locals

Found—On Alston grounds, on sports day, woollen auto rug. Owner call at Chronicle office.

Remember George Stoddart's auction sale of household effects on Saturday, July 31st, at 2.30 in the afternoon.

Manitoba progressives are uniting with the liberals or vice versa in all the ridings where nominations have taken place.

Mrs. C. E. Anderson was taken ill at Banff while holidaying and is in the hospital there, the family returning home without her.

Lost—About July 18th, between R. Tyler's residence and the C.P.R. station, a lady's gold wrist watch. Five dollars reward will be paid for its return to R. Tyler's office or to the owner, Mrs. F. Saddler.

There is a big forest fire in the vicinity of Cold Lake. If there had been one at Long Lake, in the same vicinity, it could likely be traced to the fire A. J. Ruggles used for frying fish on a recent trip.

S. T. Nelson and bride, were visitors with the former's brother, R. F. Nelson this week, on a honeymoon trip which included Banff and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McCullough returned home early in the week after a particularly enjoyable trip spent in Banff and vicinity.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The recent decision of the U. F. A. to make federal members responsible to the organization as well as to their constituents would necessitate every voter who votes for a U. F. A. candidate belonging to the order if he wished to have any voice in the policy followed. The membership of the U. F. A. is small as compared to the votes cast for their candidates so that the final result would leave a small fraction of the electorate deciding what would be best for the majority. It required an election like the late provincial event to make such a move as this possible of acceptance by those interested.

An election on Sept. 14th will not receive very much attention in this part of Alberta, at least where the harvesting of a big crop will then be receiving the attention of everyone. The provincial campaign was at best a listless affair, but it was lively compared to what will happen this fall. There may be places where this election will receive its full share of attention but these will not be found in rural Alberta. The harvest will have right of way over everything.

Drumheller liberals are active in an effort to put a liberal candidate in the field in Bow River. Considering the season at which the polls will be held it would appear circumstances were very favorable to the venture, and a vote equal to that polled by Jesse Gouge last fall should win over the present member, E. J. Earland.

The hot weather this week was not favorable to the ripening grain, but the damage seems to have been largely confined to areas where sufficient moisture was lacking. On the whole the damage would appear to be slight in this district.

France is having a big time trying to solve her financial problems, and governments come and go almost daily there. The latest ministry is asking for authority to rule by decree instead of by parliament. In other words they wish to take precautions against being talked to death.

GOVERNMENT LIQUOR CONTROL ACT OF ALBERTAAPPLICATION FOR BEER LICENSE

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned intends applying to the Alberta Liquor Control Board for a license to sell beer by the glass or open bottle for consumption in conformity with the provisions of the Government Liquor Control Act of Alberta and the regulations made thereunder with respect to the following premises:

The hotel premises known as the Savoy Hotel situated on Lots 1 to 7 inclusive in Block 9 according to a Plan of the Town of Champion of record in the Land Titles Office for the South Alberta Land Registration District as Champion 6865 A.G.
PRAIRIE HOTELS LIMITED,
E. LaRouche, Manager,
Applicant.

Mr. Meighen says the constitutional question involved in the action of the government-general in the recent crisis at Ottawa does not exist and its discussion is nonsensical. Still, the country is being circled by conservative headquarters and much attention is being given this matter on the platform. If it amounts to nothing, why such an effort to explain it?

Despite the great efforts being made to prevent forest fires they are taking their regular toll this summer on both sides of the international boundary. It seems almost impossible for men and forests to live together satisfactorily.

Mrs. Aimee Scumple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist does not appear to be making a success of her abduction story, the authorities simply refusing to believe her story. The latest developments are decidedly unsatisfactory for Mrs. McPherson.

The fatality of the strike as a means of settling labor disputes is again being illustrated by the coal miners' strike in Great Britain. Even if the striking miners get what they ask for it will be a matter of years before the losses suffered from the strike are recouped.

Down in Ontario they have a regular orgy on wood alcohol, some eighteen deaths having resulted from this potent beverage. They have caught some of the pedlars responsible and are looking for others.

Unless rain comes very soon the crop in many parts of the province will not be as good as most had hoped earlier in the season. But the crop in the province from one end to the other will be up to the average or a little better, and in some countries even that is a very big yield.—Albertan.

Preparations for harvest are progressing rapidly on every hand. Harvest is expected to be general by the end of the first week in August.

Preserving and Storing Eggs

(Experimental Farnes Note.)

The economical housewife will take advantage of the season of heavy production and consequently low priced eggs to put by a supply of eggs for culinary purposes for use during the season of high prices.

For this purpose there are a number of preservatives that are satisfactory, but the two outstanding ones are waterglass and lime water.

Waterglass is an excellent preservative but it owes a great deal of its popularity to the fact that it can be readily procured at any drug store in prepared form.

Lime water is a much cheaper preservative and experiments carried on by the experimental farms have shown it to be equal, if not superior to waterglass. For a number of years the Experimental farm at Cap Horn has been conducting tests in the storing of eggs. Some of the eggs are shipped to the Central Farm each season for examination and it is found that those preserved in lime water are best.

When eggs are to be held in a commercial way, cold storage is essential. The guaranteeing process is one that is becoming increasingly popular. For a number of years the Central Farm has been carrying on tests with this process and the results obtained warrant its recommendation to commercial packers.

Literature on the preserving of eggs for domestic purposes or on guaranteeing will be sent on application to the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Slavery in the Congo

Belgian Public Opinion Ready to Hear Plain Truths About Conditions Enlightened Belgian opinion, with the King and Crown Prince taking the lead, appears ready to hear plain truths regarding exploitation of the colored races when the International conference on the Christian mission in Africa assembled at Le Zaire, Belgium, Sept. 14. Many Protestant missionaries will be in attendance and will be invited to hear equally searching evidence regarding their policies and those of their governments. The King of the Belgians says: "The Congo and its inhabitants have produced largely and brought much money to the home country. Let us never forget that colonization must find its justification in the moral progress and material welfare of the native population. It is not this moral and material progress the necessary condition of the future advent of colonial undertakings? We have a moral responsibility towards the native population whose government we have assumed."

All points where cars must slow before entering a main highway under the new government highway regulations will be clearly marked in this way. Highway engineers whose motor houses must come to a full stop before proceeding, also will be marked.

Descendant of Governor

Duke Dutil, of Leuchtenberg, Count de Dutil, Imperial descendant of Charles, Marquis de Beauharnais who governed Canada in the name of the French King Louis XV. Between 1726 and 1747, he is visiting for the first time from Cherbourg on the Canadian Pacific liner Melita, and travelled C.P.R. across Canada. Coming down the St. Lawrence he was deeply interested in the province of Quebec with which he is historically connected, and passing through Port William he had another reminder of the days nearly two hundred years ago when La Verendrye founded the city under the auspices of the Marquis de Beauharnais. His family still keeps highly interesting letter written in French and Indian on birch bark addressed to the Marquis de Beauharnais for "the kindly care you have taken of your children," the Iroquois.

Mining in Russia

Soviets Relax Law for Foreign Seekers Of Gold

The Soviet council of work and defence, according to the Moscow Tass, has ordered that the procedure by which foreign gold prospectors may enter Russia be greatly simplified. Permits to applicants are to cost only 3 gold rubles ($1.50). The applicants must prove their proletarian origin before receiving visas. Persons who have more than a grade school education are not permitted to prospect for Siberian gold. Other rules indicate that the Soviet government does not intend to allow anyone to accumulate wealth in the Russian gold fields. Foreigners must agree to work under Soviet laws, which limit the amount of gold which may be carried away.

Development Of Wireless

Passengers On Huge Air Liners In Germany May Talk With Telephones

While cruising through air, passengers on the huge air liners of the German air service soon will be able to pick up a wireless telephone receiver, despite the roar of three 120-horsepower motors, talk with any telephone subscriber in any large city in Germany. Wireless telephone conversations between pilots on two of the night air routes and landing fields have proved successful. A pilot circled over Stockholm, Sweden, in a thunderstorm, talked with a telephone field, Berlin, for five minutes.

Remarkable Stamp Collection

Sale of Rare Old Stamps Will Help to Pay French War Debt

Tiny scraps of paper collected and treasured by a poor old man—scraps of the sort that people throw away after the million each day—are being France to weather her financial storm. More than $800,000 francs is the sum realized to date from the sale of a single collection of postage stamps.

Philatelists and others in many countries are watching with amazement the sale of the Von Ferrary collection in Paris. This remarkable aggregation of high-class postal engravings and lithographs was confiscated in the war by the French government. Single stamps valued at hundreds of thousands of francs are still to be sold.

One stamp recently passed into a private philatelist's hands for a cash consideration of 1,075,000 francs, or at the current rate of exchange, about $225,000. It was a 1-cent stamp of British Guiana, issue of 1856, the only one known to be in existence today. The buyer was Arthur Hind, a collector of U.S. stamps.

Unfortunately the Von Ferrary collection was the most famous and romantic in the world. Back of the sale lies the strange story of an aged peasant whose hobby made him widely known even though he tried throughout his life to avoid the limelight.

Great was the pride he must have felt in the knowledge that his collection was incomparable; he died without knowing that his plans for the collection would be thwarted through the Great War and that the treasures he had spent a lifetime in gathering would be scattered to the four winds.

Such, in effect, has been the fate of the collection. After Von Ferrary's death, his collection was scattered in Switzerland while the world was still abuzz, when it was discovered that he had left his collection to the Postal Museum of Berlin. The French government promptly confiscated the whole accumulation and ordered it sold. This far, the management of M. Gilbert, one of the ablest of French philatelists, fourteen sales have been held. Others will follow until all the stamps have been disposed of.

The Marquis Of Reading

Late Vicar of India Has Had a Romantic Career

Forty years ago a full-figured ship was sailing up the great Indian river, the Hooghly. On board was a well-faithful ship's boy, polishing the brasses, and doubtless watching the great city unfolding itself to his admiring gaze.

That boy's next visit to India was in the capacity of vicar and governor of the Hooghly. The board was a well-faithful ship's boy, polishing the brasses, and doubtless watching the great city unfolding itself to his admiring gaze.

It was in these words that the Earl of Bickenhead recently epitomized the romantic career of the Marquis of Reading, who has returned recently to England on the completion of his life of office.

The new marquis is fond of recalling his experiences of these scandalous days. He claims he learnt more at sea than he probably would have done at Oxford. The first two years of his life were followed by a short time on the stock exchange. Afterwards he became a barrister, and in less than ten years was earning £40,000 a year.

A sign over a garage in a small western town reads as follows: "Use genuine parts. No substitutes are as good. Ask the man with a wooden leg."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 1

THE DELIVERANCE AT THE RED SEA

Golden Text: Jehovah is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation. Exodus 15:2.

Lesson: Exodus 13:17-22; 14:10-16. Devotional Reading: Psalm 37:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

The March from Egypt to the Red Sea, Exodus 13:17 to 14:2—The Israelites had assembled at Horeb, the mountain of God. From there the most direct route to Canaan would have been "by the way of the land of the Philistines," northward along the Mediterranean coast. That was the way God wanted them to go, not more than two hundred miles at the farthest. But the people of Southwest Canaan were great warriors, and God led them not that way. "Let us go," said the people, "and let us return to Egypt," but by the longer route, the way of the wilderness, they fled. See the geographical background. It was God who followed reasons, led them by one way rather than by another—by a way which would keep the people from idolatry, and by which even the Egyptians would be compelled to acknowledge the superiority and power of Israel's God, 14:4 (Dr. J. E. McFadyen).

The tortuous path of Israel was paved out of a tender regard for safety; and the same wise, loving, and merciful God who followed reasons, led them by one way rather than by another—by a way which would keep the people from idolatry, and by which even the Egyptians would be compelled to acknowledge the superiority and power of Israel's God, 14:4 (Dr. J. E. McFadyen).

Indirection is not misdirection. The way is long, obscure, and apparently arbitrary; but the sufficient reason for all our perplexing wanderings is found in the weakness of our nature and the exigencies of life's discipline. He who governs the world and the ages has a sufficient reason for every hour and eccentricity" (Dr. W. L. Watkinson).

World's Non-Stop Flight Record

Aviators Travel 2340 Miles in 29 Hours

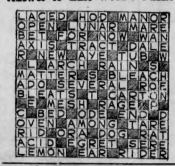

Captain Jurek and Lieut. Dordier have established a new world's non-stop flight record, travelling 2340 miles in 29 hours. The aviators started from Paris and landed at Omsk, Siberia. The former record was established in June when the Arrachart Brothers flew from Paris to the Far East. A message from the fliers says that they encountered storms all along the route and that their machine tanks were practically empty when they landed.

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Churches Must Close

Mexican Government Declares Making of Services Very Difficult. Foreign churches in Mexico are faced with the necessity of abandoning services and one American minister is reported ready to give up his work and return to the United States following promulgation of a new religious decree by the Mexican Government.

The decree, with few exceptions, defines penalties for offences against the state by clergymen and other religious workers. The lists of acts which will be looked upon as offences had been given out to the churches previously. It makes holding of services extremely difficult.

Both the United States and British diplomatic representatives in Mexico City are expected to make efforts to gain for their nationals the privilege of holding services. The British legation has a religious office with a treaty with Mexico made in 1888 and probably will try to have the clause applied. Mexico, however, already has denounced the treaty and as it expires in December, it may be of little help to British religious workers.

One clause of the decree declares certain religious orders, and priests over this particular ban are regarded as certain. Some minor religious organizations already have filed protests.

Another clause has to do with prohibition of church properties. Many of the religious orders have been found to be the property of the church, although the gathering of correct evidence on this point may be difficult. It is believed that an attempt will be made to seize the estates, new difficulties will be added to the situation.

Disintegration of a Mountain

A mountain is crumbling to pieces near Cordova, Alaska, due to the pressure of a glacier at its base. An expedition of the mountain was made after reports had been received that a volcano was in eruption. A dust cloud arising from tons of rocks falling from the mountain peak had been mistaken for smoke. On the mountain, farthest from the glacier, masses of rock of from 100 to 2,000 tons intermittently crash down to a valley below with a deafening roar.

A microphone has been located in England which so magnifies the ticking of a watch that it sounds like the explosion of a gasoline engine.

Kentlworth—He was the only one who was most accustomed to it. Of course, he was the super-kind that would press to his lips whatever the house might come to his finger tips. I, for one, never let her how thrilling it felt, and blow them to the winds in the morning without regard for silk or cotton.

She would always have to be on her guard against Brandon. If Kentlworth carried out the threat which lurked in his calculating eyes, she'd checkmate him.

If Kentlworth carried out the threat which lurked in his calculating eyes, she'd checkmate him.

Some of the other sex as hunters, Joanna felt to wondering what man he was the tactics of such a man as Kentlworth, who not being by any means young, must have had divers experiences. She was brought sharply out of this reflection by the young woman with the black hair, whom Brandon had called Yvonne.

"Don't you all know it's horrid, to have to pretend," Yvonne said, rudely.

RUN-DOWN AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Ottawa Woman Made Strong by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottawa, Ontario.—"I was terribly run-down after the birth of my third baby. I had awful boring-down pains and was afraid I had serious trouble. I was tired all the time and had no appetite. My sister-in-law is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it too highly and asked me to try it. I have had splendid results and feel like a new woman. Any one who needs a running pick-me-up, soon learns from me what to take."—Mrs. Edna Page, 20 Cumberland Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

Terrible Backache

Hamilton, Ont.—"After my baby was born I had terrible backache and headaches. I could not do my work and felt tired from the first minute I got up. But worst of all were the pains in my sides when I moved about. I had to sit or lie down for a while afterwards. I could keep my house in done at the time, because of my ailment, but many things had to go unattended. I was told by a neighbor to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as she said it would build me up. I was relieved before long and had taken the first we brought and have had no trouble since."—Mrs. T. MARBLE, 115 Ferguson Avenue South, Hamilton, Ontario.

the proper people in the right places."

After the coffee they talked of the money of Graydon, and of the and quite understood Joanna's inability to make plans. As often as she could, Joanna watched Yvonne, and studied her. She was of the kind that seldom comes to the silk counter of a department store. Joanna decided she was a bright example of the butchers who hoovers gaily over the most desirable gardens in that world to which "Miss Twenty-seven of the silks."

Joanna stood to cheer the furthest edge of the mill-lights. And she thought that Yvonne was deliberately reaching out to her, as if in being her within some common bond. Immediately, though, she considered it this feeling were not born of her own self-consolation.

She concluded she would have to learn, soon to take these new people who lived "among the billings and know the real way she had to be initiated, as she found them. With this resolve she acknowledged it at Kentlworth. He acknowledged it by putting down his cocktail glass.

"I don't know whether you mean it or not," he said, "but you are saying to me that with so much dandiness to be done before they turn us out you'd like to be getting busy. May I consider that I'm right?"

When they were on the floor Joanna asked him to repeat Yvonne's name. "I didn't hear, or I didn't understand it," she explained.

"Yvonne will do, quite satisfactory," he said.

Extend Area For Buffalo

Range in Northwest Territories Increased By 6,500 Square Miles

The great area of natural buffalo range partly in the Northwest Territories and partly in Alberta, known as Wood Buffalo Park, has just been increased by the addition to its south-east portion of 6,500 square miles.

This added area, it is stated, contains some of the best buffalo grazing lands in the north. A number of animals from the 1424 shipped north in the summer of 1925 from Buffalo National Park at Watrous kept a portion of last winter in this locality.

The return of the animals to the main herd in the spring. These animals were held in the north, while others of the park were held in the south. The park wardens are more complete when established limits it was thought advisable to extend the park to take in this eminently suitable territory.

Arrangements have been made in the park regulations to permit Treaty Indians who hunt other game in that area in the past, a continuation of the park, but to allow these Indians to hunt and trap in the recently added portion to continue as heretofore under permit from the park superintendent. The molesting of the buffalo in any way is of course not permitted.

Triumph For Telephone

Returns From Alberta Provincial Elections Handled By Phone

For the first time in Canadian election history, all the results of the recent provincial election in Alberta were handled by telephone, instead of by telegraph. This result was a triumph for the Alberta Government.

Telephone department. In less than three hours after the close of the polls the results in all of the 2,450 polls in the province, including the north-western part, were known, with the exception of a few from the most isolated parts of the province, where the election of the first or elected candidates had not been received in every constituency.

Nearly 200 people in as many telephone exchanges in the provinces were engaged in the work of collecting the returns. One hundred and eighty-five thousand miles of rural and long-distance wires carried the news, covering the entire province.

Cancer Research

British Empire Cancer Campaign Publishes Annual Report

The annual report of the British Empire Cancer Campaign gives the results of the investigations by the workers at the Cancer Hospital into the causation of cancer.

It was found that cancer producing agents and parasites were largely those which had been located in manures to a very high temperature. Some things occurred at these high temperatures which effect a change in the substances subjected to them and endow them with a mysterious cancer-producing power.

So far, no light has been thrown on the nature of this change. There seems to be very little in the idea that the presence of the cancer-producing agents of the arsenic contained in it.

The workers at the Cancer Hospital believe that they have disposed of the idea that the presence of the cancer-producing agents of the arsenic contained in it.

They have not so far been able to find any support for the view that the cancer-producing agents of the arsenic contained in it.

Dr. Lumsden's researches at the Cancer Hospital are declared to be the most promising character. He has obtained an antiserum which causes cancer in rats to disappear, but he has found it impossible to make any application of it as yet to human beings.

That same one dollar bill. Once more he spent that dollar bill in his own neighborhood. Where it would do himself and friend. The most amount of good. Four times in two years it came back. As some bad pennies will. And each time he'd go out and spend. This marked one dollar bill. Had he been wise that dollar might be in his town today. But just two years ago. He sent it far away. No more will that marked dollar Come into the farmer's hands. And nevermore will help to pay The taxes on his lands. He put it where it never can be in work of life fulfillment.
